WALT: Know about Samuel Pepys

- To know who Samuel Pepys was.
- To know why he is important to Britain.

Who was Samuel Pepys?

- Samuel Pepys worked for the British government and navy and lived during the 17th Century.
- He is most famous for writing a diary between 1659 and 1669.
- Today, we use his diary as a historical record of the events of the past.

The Life of Samuel Pepys

- Samuel Pepys was born in London on 23rd February 1633.
- His father was a tailor and his mother was a butcher's daughter.
- He went to St Paul's School in London and later went to Cambridge University.
- After university, he began working for the government and the navy. His cousin, the Earl of Sandwich, helped him to get a good job.
- Samuel Pepys married a young French girl named Elizabeth in 1655.
- Samuel Pepys enjoyed music and played several instruments during his life.
- He also liked going to the theatre, wearing fine clothes and a wig! Many rich men did this.

The Diary

Samuel Pepys began writing his diary on 1st January 1660.

He wrote of everyday things that happened in his life but also about important events in Britain's history.

Pepys wrote with quills and ink – there were no ball point pens in those days!

He wrote using a secret code, a shortened version of words. He did this because he didn't want people he knew, including his wife Elizabeth, to read his diary.

The Great Plague

Pepys lived through the Great Plague that spread through London in 1665 and wrote about it in his diary.

If a person was suffering with the Plague, also known as the Black Death, they would have some of these symptoms:

- Fever
- A 'Ring-o'-Roses' which is a circle of spots
- Sneezing
- The plague would usually lead to death

People didn't know very much about how the Plague spread and some thought it was carried by stray cats and dogs. As a result many animals were killed. Some thought it was in the air so they held bunches of posies to their noses to smell instead of the air. Fleas on black rats are what actually caused the disease to spread.

Ring-o'-Roses is a famous nursery rhyme about people suffering from the Great Plague.

The Great Fire

- Pepys also wrote about the Great Fire of London a year later in 1666.
- On 2nd September 1666, a fire broke out at Thomas Farrinor's bakery on Pudding Lane.
- In those days, houses in London were made out of wood and were built very close together. It was easy for the fire to spread.
- The fire burned for 4 days and more than 13, 000 houses were destroyed. Sadly, around 16 people lost their lives. Luckily, most people were able to escape the fire.
